

To Whom it may concern,

To those interested in saving money and time dealing with mobile vendors, I highly recommend Mobilia Consulting.

When I first received Mobilia's phone call, I hesitated to listen to their presentation. Our company at the time was going through a massive transformation, including many other projects that needed attention. Because there was no upfront cost or risk for the audit, I decided to give Mobilia a shot. And I'm so glad I did!

Mobilia Consulting cut our monthly wireless bill by 60%, saving us thousands of dollars. Any amount of savings is of high importance; however, the amount we saved was more substantial than we thought was possible. We now have excess funds in our budget to help pay for delayed IT projects.

The time savings is substantial. Instead of my IT team being burdened with calling customer service, ordering devices, or managing data, we now offload this task to Mobilia as an extension to our staff. Without paying out of pocket.

This partnership has been nothing but success in the eyes of our finance leaders, IT staff, and myself. They indeed are experts at mobile management and cost reduction. Therefore, I encourage my fellow CIOs to allow Mobilia Consulting a chance to prove their worth.

Sincerely,

Jeff Green
